

All Dumped in Gutter

Russians Drag Nazi Banners Over Muddy Streets of Moscow

BY EDDY OILMORE

MOSCOW, June 25 (AP)—

A doll Hitler's personal swastika flag was dragged over the cobblestones of Red Square and hurled into a muddy gutter Sunday after Marshal Georgi K. Zhukov, in a victory parade speech, said the Red Army was the most powerful in the world, but that Russia must not become "concoited or complacent."

"After four years of savage battles, we have entered a period of peaceful development," said Zhukov, conqueror of Berlin and defender of Moscow.

"The Soviet state has emerged even more mighty from the grim struggle we waged, and the Red Army the most modern and powerful army in the world. But for us Soviet people it is unseemly to become conceited or complacent."

MUST STUDY WAR
"In the future, we must strengthen the economic might of our country, unceasingly perfect our military skill, study the abundant experience of the fatherland-war, and develop our military science."

Zhukov stood beside Marshal Joseph Stalin in a parade atop Lenin's red marble tomb as he spoke. He said the victory over Germany grew out of the socialist regime's strength and because the nation was led by the greatest leader and military genius, Marshal of the Soviet Union.

Zhukov had ridden into the square on a white horse, the traditional Russian manner for a conqueror, in sight of thousands of Russians and scores of foreign diplomats. It was the first time since the war that the Soviet Union's greatest official ceremony to honor its victorious army.

Two hundred captured Nazi banners, including Hitler's personal standard, were dragged along the square's rain-soaked cobblestones, and a disheveled tossed into the gutter before Lenin's tomb while Premier Stalin and other leaders of the Russian people watched silently.

Carried by 200 Red Army soldiers, the German standards followed immediately behind a parade of high officers. As they approached the open space in front of the tomb before Stalin, the carriers dropped the standards, bands stopped playing. There was the deep, thundering roll of hundreds of drums.

TOSSED FLAMES ASIDE
As the Nazi banner carriers reached the tomb they tossed the Nazi flags without turning their heads and marched on without breaking step.

From atop the marble monument, Marshal Stalin, Foreign Commissar Molotov, President Kalinin, other government and party heads and officers of the army, navy and air force stared down at the standards of a vanquished foe who four years ago was charging through the Soviet Union in an undisciplined way.

In the parade were Polish standards and Polish officers who helped to storm Berlin.

Marshal Stalin wore a grey military topcoat adorned with gold braid. He arrived and climbed the reviewing stands shortly after 10 a.m., followed by other members of the communist party central committee.

In his speech, Zhukov said the Red Army would be remembered in history as the "army of liberation" because it had "freed the people of Europe from the German yoke."

PLAYED DECISIVE ROLE
"Today it is recognized by all that the Soviet Union played the main decisive part in the achievement of this historic victory over Germany," he said. "For three years the Red Army single-handedly fought the armed forces of Germany and her satellites."

He recalled that at the war's beginning, Russia suffered military setbacks and that "there were moments when the situation was desperate."

"But the base German invaders," he added, "have shared the fate of all other invaders who have coveted our sacred soil."

Having raised the sword against us, the Germans met death by our sword."

that the job of Speaker of the Commons must be held by a married man. He should have his wife with him when he presides at social functions and it is expected social functions will be much more frequent now that the war with Germany is over.

PREFER LAWYER
In addition to being French speaking and a married man it is preferable that he be a lawyer so that he can inter-pret disputes over the rules of debate with a legal mind. These three requirements bar two of the most likely candidates for the post.

Joseph Bradette, deputy speaker in the last parliament, was a Liberal member for Cochrane in the last parliament. He was also mentioned for the post—is a merchant and not a lawyer.

One prominent member from Quebec province, whose advice must be considered in selecting a French speaking speaker, is using the name Jean-François Pouliot, a member for Rimouski in the last parliament. He is a lawyer and a married man and knows the rules of debate as few other private members do. He was chairman of the committee which last revised the rules.

However, the cabinet may refuse to overlook the fact that Mr. Pouliot was one of those who bolted the party over conscription, and in a dramatic gesture protested that he was forsaking the principles of Liberalism.

War's End In Europe

Germany, I suffered for my principles until a commanding general told me that he occasionally gave clemency to children. I was glad to be authorized to do what I theoretically advised others not to do. No fraternization in the right principle in Germany, but it was practiced only 90 per cent with children.

OLD FEELINGS

Also, I found that the old feelings of youth came back to me after fifty years. German districts which I had known, my old university in Heidelberg, the town hall where I was secretly married under romantic circumstances, the half-destruction of the town in Frankfurt where I saw the first signs of half a dozen of my plays—all these made my heart compassionate.

Why did I not change my position and share that of other German immigrants to America who plead for clemency for the Germans? Because nowhere in Germany did I find a feeling of guilt—the medicine to cure German arrogance.

LOOKING FOR FRIENDS

I went to see three old friends in Berlin because my Jewish friends were all gone. When I rang the doorbell, the old maid who lived in Heidelberg, hoping to see my friend the philosopher after fifteen years, I did not know whether or not he was still alive.

I listen, my heart pounding. Silenced by the door? I ring a second time. A window on the third floor opens and an old familiar voice calls, "I come down." He lives!

But he cannot guess who is waiting. He opens the door, looks at me and bursts into tears. This man, who was clean shaven all his life, now at 72 has a long white beard, later called, it is mourning beard.

When he became calmer, the first words he spoke were: "This is Kant's birthday." For his entire life, he had lived with Kant's greatest philosophy now with this date.

I took him up the hill in my car to a hotel which is majestically situated, overlooking the river and mountains. As students we never went there, as it was much too expensive. Now we went as guests of the Americans.

The scene of a war in a dream here before me was one of the last examples of a species of the "other Germany." His lack of knowledge of what really happened showed me again how the intellectual and the government are separated in Germany. He despised the Nazis and was content to live with Kant and Goethe.

INCOMPARABLE MOMENT
Some days later, when I entered my second friend, I found the town half in ruins. Some houses were still burning, for the German troops had been driven out only two days before. Since the beginning of the war, I had not had any word of this friend and his wife. Now his wife's town people were probably dead.

KING PLANS TALKS WITH U.S. PRESIDENT
By C. R. BLACKBURN
SAN FRANCISCO, June 25 (AP)—Prime Minister Mackenzie King, who flew here from Ottawa Saturday to sign for Canada, was an interesting delegate at Saturday's long meeting of the steering committee which approved the final draft of the United Nations charter at the San Francisco conference.

Mr. King, accompanied by Justice Minister St. Laurent, will sign the charter with the prime minister arrived at noon Saturday after a 37-hour flight from Ottawa in a specially-equipped four-motor Liberator flown by an RCAF crew.

Senator J. H. King, an original member of the Canadian delegation, and Chief Justice Wendell Phillips of the British Columbia supreme court, who helped to write the constitution for the new world court which will be part of the organization, arrived from Vancouver.

CONFERS WITH SMUTTS
Sunday morning the Prime Minister conferred with Prime Minister Smuts of South Africa, who will leave Wednesday for a brief visit in Ottawa before returning home via London.

During the long conversation it is believed that Mr. King reviewed the history of the Canadian general election, while Field Marshal Smuts gave his colleague an intimate account of the work of the San Francisco Conference.

The surprise of Mr. King's call was also to discuss the Field Marshal's forthcoming visit to Ottawa and arrangements made there for the latter's reception.

Last night Mr. King was guest at a dinner given by the Earl of Halifax, head of the United Kingdom delegation.

Monday he will go with the leaders of all 50 delegations to Hamilton Field to greet President Truman and ride in a 75-car procession which will follow the president into San Francisco.

TO MEET TRUMAN
At some point during the president's stay here he is expected to have a private conversation with Mr. King on matters of interest to the two countries, particularly trade. At this meeting, the two hope to establish the same friendly and intimate relations which so long existed between Mr. King and the late President Roosevelt.

The prime minister expects to leave for Ottawa either late Tuesday or Wednesday morning.

Appeal For Halt In Italo Killings
ROME, June 25 (AP)—Pierino Part, new premier of Italy, appealed Saturday night to northern Italians to stop "Arbitrary acts of justice and illegal executions." He declared in his first broadcast to the nation that such acts "Contrary to the will of the Allies and above all, offend our sense of justice."

Knowing only the name of the road where my friends lived, I asked with fear if this quarter had been burned. Yes, I was told. I thought my friends were lost.

Then, suddenly, I saw a big Red Cross flag on the door of an untouched house. Apparently, it belonged to a doctor—and my friend was a doctor. I entered the little court—and the scene of surprise was repeated here.

After a minute of silent tears, my friend's wife asked me, "Is Mother living?" Is Stella living? Stella is their only daughter, whom they had sent out of Germany to save her from becoming a Hitler girl.

"They are living and they are well," I said. "I saw them last week in London. Such moments are incomparable!"

My friends had fled to the woods during the fighting and had returned only the day before. Among the ruins, they had found their home and garden untouched. Only the kitchen was in disorder, made by liberated Russians. But they apparently had brought their own food because my friend's wife said laughing, "We found a lot of eggs—more than we felt. They were all broken on the floor."

When I later took my friend to the military governor, explaining his past and his ideas, the colonel, who had been there only one day, brightened. He said, "Thank God for one man to rely upon. We must talk the whole evening."

THIRD OLD FRIEND
The third German friend I wanted to see was the Rhine, which can be seen as Arzan according to Mr. Rosenberg's geography. When I flew from Paris to Frankfurt in a small private plane, we left in a fog—then the sun came out. Then the Rhine came into view—the great symbol of German history and art.

As we flew over it I tried in my excitement to stand up and see more, but I was strapped in my seat. The two pilots laughed at my comic movements.

Some of the bridges still stood. I remembered that, as a young doctor, my father rode on horseback over the bridge to join his regiment for the war against France. And now, years later, his exile son was returning on an American plane.

35.3 per cent to the Liberals. The Labor-Progressives took 23 per cent and other candidates three per cent.

With only a few scattered civil liberties still to be heard from, it is not enough to affect any results—how is the final Ontario vote stacked up, the soldier vote first and the service-plus-civilian vote in brackets? Progressives: 40,189 (77,082); Liberals: 58,841 (124,817); CCF: 38,289 (90,391); Labor—Progressives: 2,287 (51,082); others: 3,734 (8,413).

In two seats there appeared possibilities of a recount—Wellington North and Brantford. The service vote in Brantford led Cpl. Stanley Dye, Progressive Conservative, at 6,605, two votes ahead of his Liberal opponent Col. D. D. Williamson.

And in Wellington North the figures were 11,544 for the Progressive Conservative, 6,794 for Mr. Root, with 6,628 voters held a three-vote margin on the basis of the civilian vote but when service votes were counted the seat changed hands and Mr. Dye was considered elected by a 2-vote margin.

Covenant Summarized by Smuts

New World Security Charter Rectifies Errors of League, Mixes Idealism and Realism

The following analysis of the proposed new world charter drawn at San Francisco was written for the Associated Press by Field Marshal Jan Christian Smuts, prime minister of the Union of South Africa, and is the only living link between the chief drafters of the Covenant of the League of Nations—when the "Big Four" were made up of Woodrow Wilson, Lloyd George of Britain, Clemenceau of France and Orlando of Italy—and the leading figure of the 1945 United Nations conference. Field Marshal Smuts, who celebrated his 74th birthday during one of the critical periods of the evolution of the new international blue-print, has served as chairman of one of the four commissions at San Francisco and is the author of the preamble of the new world charter, but perhaps his most important work was performed behind the scenes, leading reasoned advice to other leaders of the parties—EDITOR.

BY FIELD MARSHAL JAN CHRISTIAN SMUTS

COPYRIGHT 1945, BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
SAN FRANCISCO, June 25 (AP)—I have been asked by the Associated Press to give my general impression of the San Francisco conference and the charter of the United Nations which it has drafted.

I readily do so because I think the conference and the charter are important enough to deserve the earnest and intelligent attention of all who are interested in the great question of peace and the prevention of war in future.

For two months this problem has been under discussion at the conference, and very full and fair reports have appeared in the press. But, as so often happens in lengthy debates on great issues, many of the points which were hotly canvassed, and figured most prominently in the debates, were not those of greatest importance. The public may therefore have been confused by the many debating points and have had to see the wood for the trees. It may therefore be useful to put the main issues in their proper proportion, and I shall try to do so, as I see them.

LEAGUE OF NATIONS PACT
At one of those who took a prominent part in the framing of the covenant of the League of Nations at the last peace, I naturally make it my starting point in the consideration of the new charter.

WRIGLEY'S

THE HAPPY WARRIOR—Acknowledging the cheers of New Yorkers who jammed the route of his triumphant parade through the city, Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower wears a broad smile as he raises both hands above his head. An estimated 4,000,000 people turned out to see and greet the Allied Supreme Commander as he rode through New York.

The rise of Hitler's Germany has been a revelation of evil in human nature and of warpower such as has not been seen before, and his example had been followed by Japan and others. Idealism is clearly not enough, and a much more realistic view has to be taken of world war and its prevention.

In contrast with the covenant, the charter therefore adopts a plan based on the following main points: FORCE IS NECESSARY

1. That force is necessary to maintain peace.
2. That only the combined force of the great powers can guarantee the world against total war, and that therefore, great power unity is a necessary condition for world peace.

COULD END WARFARE
If nations could only be brought together at a round table to consult with each other, and plan for a peaceful settlement of disputes, the world might in the end rid of the scourge of war. Public opinion and economic sanctions might suffice, and organized force might not be necessary to prevent aggression.

All states were equal and sovereign, and none could be compelled to take forceful action without its free consent.

A universal veto and the absence of force were thus its main features of the covenant.

Today we can appreciate why it failed.

For we have learned much during the last 25 years, years in which the hopes and visions of the last peace have suffered a sad eclipse. We have seen military force rise to unheard of heights.

There are still months of waiting for many of our boys in England, in Holland, in Germany. More than ever, they want letters and boxes from home. During these days, they would greatly appreciate a box of Wrigley's Gum.

THE BOYS OVERSEAS STILL NEED EYES FROM MURINE

WRIGLEY'S

ALL ACCEPTABLE
All these main features of the charter scheme have been accepted without demur by the 50 nations. The lengthy conference debates have only served to clear up minor points and to secure agreement on details.

Nor have these details given any real trouble, with the exception of the great powers in organization, and the requirement of their consent in voting or their veto right as it is called.

This is not objected to by the smaller powers, but some of them have been particularly active in pointing out the defects of this arrangement, and in making application so far as possible.

The limitation of the veto has in fact been the main cause of contention and of the duration of the conference.

Personally I have not attached so much importance to this veto question, and I do not expect great consequences from its exercise.

The necessity of great power unity as a protection against chaos is admitted, and I see no reason to anticipate that the veto will be used unfairly or arbitrarily by reasonable and responsible bodies like the great powers. It is a precaution, and a necessary precaution, for keeping the great powers together, and it would be senseless on their part to abuse it and thereby break up the organization itself.

IS "NECESSARY EVIL"
The heat and the length of the veto debate has been of little proportion to its intrinsic importance. If the veto is an evil, it is a necessary evil in the interests of world peace, which would benefit more than the small nations now objecting to its application.

In laying so much emphasis on peace and force, have we not abandoned the idealism and the human vision of 25 years ago? By no means.

The charter even more than the government provides for human welfare and progress. Hence the important chapter establishing an economic and social order, with its program of the promotion of human principles and values, intended to make human life worthwhile, and was originally absolute. Hence also the chapter on trusteeship, with its care for dependent peoples, unable yet to look after themselves.

IDEALISM AND REALISM
The charter is a mixture of idealism with realism, and suggests practical lines along which the vision of a better world may be realized.

It also provides for a revision of the charter after 10 years, if experience in a changing world should show such a step to be advisable.

McCoy Health Service
The need for a sufficient amount of protein in the everyday diet is a fact that is too obvious to need stating. An appropriate quantity of the co-ordinating protein must be supplied to all animal life in order that the organism may restore and repair those tissues which wear out. Protein is absolutely necessary for bodily growth and repair and lean meat supplies the essential substance in a readily digestible form.

In spite of the fact that modern investigation has shown repeatedly that lean meat, properly prepared, is one of the most excellent of proteins, there are still many people clinging to the old-fashioned idea that "meat is bad for you."

There are many reasons to account for the superstition that meat is not healthy. The subject of diet was not taken up seriously until about four years ago, and the findings of those who have developed a common sense viewpoint in their investigations of the meat problem have not yet had time to reach the superstitious theories of those who cling to the old idea. Possibly some of the prejudice against meat comes from the fact that those who use it tried, may develop some digestive distress.

Afterward, they then blame the meat for their discomfort, when they should blame the faulty method of preparation.

One cannot be a fair judge of whether meat agrees with him or not, if he uses only fried meats, such as steaks or rich desserts, with much more difficult to digest fried meats than those which are broiled or roasted.

In addition, it is also true that the use of other "heavy" foods, such as starches or rich desserts, with the meat will delay the digestion of the entire meal and the one who inclines towards the idea that meat is undesirable will then blame the meat for this slowing up of digestion. Before you condemn the use of meat, try a meal of steak, a cooked non-starchy vegetable such as string beans, and a salad made of celery and lettuce. You will find that this simplification of the diet will probably cause you to digest the meat perfectly.

The most desirable meat, from the standpoint of digestibility is lean beef, with ribs, chicken and rabbit are other good sources of a readily digested protein.

All questions regarding health and diet will be answered. Large stamped, self-addressed envelope must be enclosed. Write on the side of paper only. Letters must not exceed 150 words. Address McCoy Health Service, The McCoy Building, 1151 West 6th Street, Los Angeles, Calif.

WINNIPEG, June 25 (CP)—Switchboard operators in news-paper offices here and at Central Police Station had a busy time last night when residents of suburban St. James jammed all telephone lines to report a Japanese balloon flying over their homes.

Reports varied. It was described as an inverted parachute by some, and as a "large colored object" by others. But it was sure to be a bomb-laden balloon.

Fears were dispelled by police investigation. It was found to be just a kite, which had broken loose from its owner in West Winnipeg.

Red Deer Lodge Presents Carnival

RED DEER—The Hot Deer Lodge first annual stampede ran into wet weather Friday, its first day, but in spite of that, two top-notch performances were put on and those who took in the colorful show at the exhibition grounds were well pleased with the entertainment. The stampede continued Saturday with afternoon and evening programs.

All the colored features of a western stampede were included, horse riding, steer riding, barrel racing, wild cow milking, calf roping, steeple chasing, car races, horse races and thrilling demolition races. Some of the top hands in the game were here from all parts of Alberta, British Columbia and Saskatchewan, and as far away as Arizona.

Extensive corrals and fences had been built at the exhibition grounds to handle the events. Everything was run off smoothly and there were few delays. The Stampede Company, of Vancouver, are staging the stampede for the Elks, Roy Lingard is stampede manager, and Kay Pollock chairman of the Elks committee handling arrangements.

CANADIAN SPORTSHOTS

By ALAN HARVEY

TORONTO, June 23—(CP)—

Horse racing in wartime was often superlatively stressed. But the sport has made one gift to us which receives scant publicity.

This contribution has been made to the vital photographic division of the British and United States armies. Since the war started 38 former race track photographers (27 from the United States, 11 from Canada) have joined the armed services. They were killed, many were wounded.

Before the war these men helped run the eye in the sky camera, which operated on 41 of 66 leading Canadian and United States track equine race tracks.

Binger (Montreal Herald) Ferguson quotes an official of a leading photographic company as saying men and equipment are difficult to obtain now. The company has closed a contract to provide camera equipment for 700 days of racing at Johannesburg, South Africa, but won't be able to fulfill commitments until the end of the war against Japan.

Yankee Contract

NEW YORK, June 23—(AP)—

Charles (Red) Ruffing, former ace right-handed pitcher with the New York Yankees, Saturday signed a contract with that team reported to call for a salary of $20,000.

Ruffing, recently discharged from the United States army, said he had been removed from the national service list and would accompany the Yankees on their western trip starting last night.

Three Swim Marks

SAN FRANCISCO, June 23—(AP)—Ann Curtis, holder of three United States swimming titles, set a new American record Sunday at the national champions' invitational outdoor swimming meet in Flushing Meadows.

The new American record—1:00.94, 1,000 metres, was set in the course of a mile swim.

BROOKLYN, June 23—(AP)—

(CP)—Boston halted Brooklyn's National League winning streak at eight straight Sunday as the Braves won the second game of a double-header 3-1.

The Dodgers had marked up their eighth win in a row in the opener behind the effective pitching of Vic Lombardi.

Nate Andrews turned the trick on the first pitchers by holding them to one run on six hits.

Irish Derby Won

23-to-1 Shot

DUBLIN, June 23—(CP) Cash.

Piccadilly, a 23-to-1 shot, won the Irish Derby on the 1 1/4-mile course at the Curragh Saturday by one length from one of the favorites, Coup De Myth.

The winner, owned by Major D. McAlmest, was ridden by Joe Moya. Coup De Myth, ridden by Joe Moya, owned by R. L. Barker, and a 30-to-1 long shot, was third.

Eight horses completed the grueling race for a purse of 130,000 sovereigns, about $3,80

Ottawa Probes Source Rumor On Money Tale

OTTAWA, June 25—(CP)—Financial circles here are endeavoring to determine the source of a rumor that has been circulating between New York and London on a revaluation of the Canadian dollar.

Inquiries made in New York disclosed the rumors came from London and in London Canadians were told the rumors originated in New York. The latest report is that the Canadian dollar, now pegged at approximately 16 per cent below the United States dollar, had been brought up to parity with United States funds.

Ever since the exchange rate on the Canadian dollar was pegged at 16 per cent discount shortly after the outbreak of the war in 1939 there have been rumors every few months either that the value of the Canadian dollar will be increased or decreased. Each time Finance Minister Flaherty declined to comment and he is taking the same attitude now.

CANT FIND SOURCE
"We have been unable to find the source of these rumors," a financial authority told The Canadian Press. "We think they are put out to affect Canadian security. Each time we have no proof of it. He added there was no doubt the present batch of rumors were more persistent than any in the past."

A statement recently made in the London Financial News that bringing the Canadian dollar to a parity with the United States dollar would have some reaction on the financial prestige of the Empire, was deemed by an authority as "silly."

Value of the dollar is fast being regarded in the best interests of this country, he said, and its relation to the American dollar and the British pound depends on the value of these two currencies in relation to each other.

Truman in Favor New Coast Link For Alaska Road

SEATTLE, June 25—(CP)—Senator Warren G. Magnuson (Dem., Wash.) said Saturday that President Truman has shown a favorable reaction concerning plans for a new highway crossing British Columbia to Alaska and the President is anxious for a commission to start work on a cost sharing program.

The President suggested, Magnuson said, that a commission of Alaska, Canada and United States members meet and agree on a plan to plan the financing of a 625-mile link crossing parts of British Columbia and Alaska.

Magnuson estimated the project at $180,000,000.

Canadians Knew SS Troops As Cruel, Fanatic, Inhuman Foe

By ROSS MUNRO

WITH THE FIRST CANADIAN ARMY, June 25—(CP)—A soldier respects his enemy if his opponent is as good at all and the Canadians in Europe had respect for most Germans on a battlefield.

They cursed them, ridiculed them, despised them, but still respected them generally for their skill with weapons and their fighting ability. The Canadians, however, found as did the British and Americans, that there were two definite types in the German army. There were the ordinary Wehrmacht troops who were better trained for the part of the war than the SS troops who were terrifically vicious wherever they were met.

There were also the ordinary Wehrmacht troops who were better trained for the part of the war than the SS troops who were terrifically vicious wherever they were met.

SS TROOPS TOUGHEST
On every score the Canadians outstripped the Wehrmacht, but there were few soldiers who were as good as the SS and the paratroopers who were better trained for the part of the war than the SS troops who were terrifically vicious wherever they were met.

The battle the 12th SS Hitler Jugend Division put up against the 3rd Canadian Division on the perimeter of the Normandy beachhead is a typical example. Some companies of these youthful fanatics fought to the last man, showed not a touch of cowardice or humanity, and died in the trenches where they stood.

In the Hochwald on the lower Rhine the Canadians fought the 12th SS Hitler Jugend Division, which was a typical example of the fanatical divisions of German paratroopers and divisions like the 12th SS Hitler Jugend Division.

CANADIANS WON OUT
The Canadians in each case proved that in the long run they would wear down the SS and the paratroopers but war in them had some humor and humanity to it and they did not match, nor did they try the cruel toughness and sense of the SS and their comrades in the SS paratrooper divisions.

The only Wehrmacht division which fought the Canadians with the ferocity of the SS was the 6th Infantry defending the Breckenridge pocket on the Scheldt against the 3rd Canadian.

But there were at the same time, the SS and the paratroopers who were better trained for the part of the war than the SS troops who were terrifically vicious wherever they were met.

They would fight with the usual ferocity until the Canadians rushed their positions and then they would surrender.

They did not like the Canadian gun and grenade and they did not like the Canadian bayonet and they did not like the Canadian bayonet and they did not like the Canadian bayonet.

They did not like the Canadian bayonet and they did not like the Canadian bayonet and they did not like the Canadian bayonet.

They did not like the Canadian bayonet and they did not like the Canadian bayonet and they did not like the Canadian bayonet.

Two More Dead After Discovery Of Child's Body

KENORA, Ont., June 25—(CP)—Police yesterday found the bodies of Oscar Swanson, 50, and his son-in-law, Arvo Brax, 33, in Lethbridge, following a two-day search ordered after the body of Swanson's 10-year-old daughter, Violet, was discovered in her home 11 miles northwest of here.

Police reported Swanson had been fatally stabbed, and his body had been found in the lake, and that Brax had been found in the lake, and that Brax had been found in the lake.

Police believe the girl was killed while playing. She had been shot and bludgeoned.

Discount Reports Japan Mine Threat

SEATTLE, June 25—(CP)—Reports the Japanese were dispatching floating mines on the Japanese current for Alaska and the Pacific Northwest were labelled "exaggerated and grossly exaggerated" Saturday by the 12th naval district headquarters here.

Officials said the report evidently stemmed from a notice sent to the Japanese coast guard in the Pacific Northwest on Saturday.

The official district statement said that "floating mines have been discovered off the Alaska and Washington coasts at infrequent intervals since the war started and that none of them to date has caused any damage to shipping."

Previous warnings had suggested that Japanese mines had reached North America by mistake and were originally designed to protect the Japanese home islands.

Royal Canadian Navy officials in Vancouver said that "no mines identified as Japanese" have been reported to them in the Pacific Northwest.

But they said, "there is always the possibility of floating mines from Japanese or Allied minefields reaching the Pacific coast."

Royal Commission To Start Sitings

OTTAWA, June 25—The Royal Commission on veterans qualifications which will recommend regarding application of service-qualified skills of civilian jobs, meets in Toronto tomorrow beginning a series of hearings in several provinces.

Labour Minister Mitchell announced last night.

Charge Americans Destroyed Supplies

SLOUGH, Eng. June 25—(CP)—Novelist J. B. Priestley said yesterday that American troops burned thousands of sheets and blankets and ran a steamroller over tons of crockery before abandoning a large military hospital in western England recently.

Priestley said the officers and men were reluctant to carry out the orders and that the reason they did it was because they "still were chained to the lunatic system of profit before distribution."

Miner Is Killed

CALGARY, June 25—(CP)—Richard Pentlak, 54, Drumheller, was almost decapitated and died instantly when horses pulling a loaded mine car in the Commander coal mine at Narmath, Saturday afternoon, wedged him between the car and timbers in the mine.

"Escala Espiritual de San Juan Ciman" was the first book printed in America; no copies are known to exist.

Ask Marshal Stalin To Visit Britain

LONDON, June 25—(Reuters)—Fifteen thousand persons at an Albert hall meeting Saturday night, marking the third anniversary of the Anglo-Soviet alliance, applauded speakers who urged Marshal Stalin visit London. If he did, British authorities "would see Londoners in their tens of thousands turn out to cheer 'Uncle Joe'." said Rev. W. A. Pether Waterhouse, chairman of the British Soviet Council.

Parley Results Highly Pleasing To Premier King

SAN FRANCISCO, June 25—(AP)—Prime Minister Mackenzie King said in an interview today the result of the United Nations Security Conference was "fully up to my expectations."

He said the conference had taken longer than had been anticipated but the time was well spent. He thought an excellent document had been produced," he said.

"I think there is no doubt in the world that it will be ratified in the House of Commons," he said. "After all the hope of maintaining peace in the world lies in this charter. If it fails we are all done."

GIVEN PLAUSIBLE

When he entered a steering committee Saturday afternoon he was given a round of applause by those of his fellow political leaders who realized he was fresh from an election defeat.

The Prime Minister said today he would ask parliament to ratify the charter at the end of the week. He called for August 25 regardless of what other nations have done.

"I think there is no doubt in the world that it will be ratified in the House of Commons," he said. "After all the hope of maintaining peace in the world lies in this charter. If it fails we are all done."

VETO OVER-EMPHASIZED

Commenting on the long argument over the veto power, Prime Minister Mackenzie said today the disadvantages some saw in the authority being given the major powers was more apparent than real.

"If a great power wants to fight a war of aggression and is powerful enough to do it, the power of veto doesn't alter very much nor would a pledge or covenant make any difference to a power bent on aggression," he said.

"It was realized from the start that if the great powers could be united in this task nine-tenths of our job was done."

Low Temperature Sweeps Argentine

BUENOS AIRES, June 25—(AP)—Argentina's capital, almost without exception for heating this winter, is suffering from one of the most severe cold waves in history. The temperature Saturday was 54 degrees Fahrenheit—lowest in 21 years when it was 18 degrees at some inland points.

Inventor of Subs Is Dead in States

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., June 25—(AP)—Simon Lake, 78, father of the modern submarine, died Saturday night in hospital after a brief illness. Although crude types of submarines had been used during the American revolutionary and civil wars, Lake was the first to build a submarine which operated successfully in the open sea.

Maple Leaf Patch Was Like Signboard

OTTAWA, June 25—(CP)—The big, flashy, red and white Infantry Corps patch was considered too much like a signboard and that is why the army decided to reduce the size, it was learned here Saturday. Previously the shoulder patch, introduced during the intensive infantry recruiting period last fall, consisted of three red maple leaves on a white background together with the white embroidered "Infantry Corps" on a red background. Only the same part will be worn in future.

HELP WANTED: YOUTH—TO SHARE IN UNLIMITED ENTERPRISE

Never before has there been the appreciative welcome that there is for youth today. Never before has there been so great a need for Canada to assist its youth, direct its enthusiasm and provide for unlimited initiative.

As the young men and women are discharged from the armed forces, business men can help in their rehabilitation not only by providing employment but through the courtesy of understanding interviews and wise counsel.

Experienced financial counsel, complete banking facilities and credit arrangements—these are a few of the ways in which we plan to assist youth.

Food Situation Is Worse in Britain

LONDON, June 25—(Reuters)—Britain's food troubles have increased since hostilities ceased in Europe and in the London area, for instance, food queues are worse than at any time since the war began. In northern industrial centres, leaders of shop and engineering workers have warned the government that strike troubles may arise unless the situation improves.

John S. Dawe, Business Man, Dies Suddenly

John S. Dawe, prominent Edmonton engraver, and a resident of this city for about 35 years, died suddenly Saturday afternoon at his home, 867 50th avenue. He had been ill for a short time.

An active worker in club affairs in the city he was a popular member of the City club, of which he was a past president.

He was past master of Strathcona Masonic Lodge and secretary of the Edmonton Jewelers' Association for a number of years.

He is survived by his wife and two children.

Mr. Dawe learned his trade in Toronto and came to Edmonton about 1915 to work with a K. K. Land. A few years later he opened a wholesale engraving business and did work for many of the city's jewelers.

Funeral service will be held Tuesday.

ACTING CHIEF—Staff Sgt. Alex Riddell of the city police department, who is acting chief of the present force, during the vacation absence of Chief Const. Reg. Jennings. Mr. and Mrs. Jennings are holidaying at Banff.

Tuesday at 3:45 p.m. from Howard & McBride's funeral chapel.

CWAC Military Band Will Make Overseas Tour

The military band of the Canadian Women's Army Corps will sail shortly for the United Kingdom and the continent, national defence headquarters announced Monday.

Numbering 50 personnel, the musicians under the direction of Bandmaster WOI Nedla Swartz, of Vegreville, the band will play for the entertainment of Allied troops in the United Kingdom and will visit units of the Canadian Assault Force in European areas.

OFFICER IN CHARGE

Capt. Grace McNeill of Hamilton, Ont., is in command of the band as officer-in-charge. Capt. McNeill has toured the Dominion twice in charge of both the CWAC Military and Pipe bands and was formerly stationed in England with the ATS for several months.

It is expected the CWAC pipe band will follow its sister band overseas at a later date.

The CWAC military band originated in Calgary. Since then the band has entertained service and civilian personnel in the Dominion and abroad.

With the exception of Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island, every province in the Dominion of Canada has been visited by the band. Notable among its skilled musicians are seven former members of the well-known Canadian all-star band of Edmonton, N.B. The band has toured the cities of St. John's, Maria Linder and Henry Linder of Lethbridge, who have both toured with the band, and Wanda McNeill, who is a pianist. There are also three American girls in the band, from the states of Michigan, New York and Missouri. The province of Alberta is represented with nine members.

Police Detain Draft Evasaders

City police, teamed up with military police from each of the three branches of Canada's armed forces, Saturday night and conducted an investigation of an Edmonton draft evader and apprehended "four or five" draft evaders, it was learned Monday.

Police have declared the raid was a routine matter.

Plan Demonstrate Control of Weeds

Selective chemical weed control demonstrations are being started in Alberta this week commencing at Calgary and followed by the cities of Edmonton, Ponoka, Lacombe, Red Deer, Olds and Calgary.

This method of spraying destroys annual weeds without damaging the standing grain crops.

Dr. C. P. Zeech, Hoboken, N.J., is here for the demonstrations. He represents the chemical which is a coal tar derivative, sodium salt of dinitro-ortho-Cresol. Assisting with the demonstrations are Fred F. C. Vedy of Winnipeg and H. Lauro of Indian Head, Sask.

Mr. N. Hoffman, 1009 111 street, told city police Monday that he had stolen from his clothesline some items during the week-end. Police are investigating.

Call Meeting on Veterans' Welfare

Ways and means whereby the Alberta government and the Dominion department of veterans' affairs can work in co-operation in veterans' rehabilitation will be discussed at a conference scheduled to be held next Friday at Calgary.

Representing the province will be L. D. Byrne, deputy minister of the newly-formed department of economic affairs and Lt.-Col. E. Brown, M.E.D., chairman of the Veterans' Welfare Commission.

D. E. Mould, Edmonton superintendent of rehabilitation for Northern Alberta in the department of veterans' affairs, and Joseph Sutton, who occupies a similar post for Southern Alberta, will represent the department.

For Northern Alberta will accompany Mr. Mould and Dr. Mould will also be present.

Mr. Mould will attend with Mr. Sutton.

Representatives of the discharge department of the Royal Canadian Navy and RCAF will also be present.

Plans developed by the Alberta government as well as those already made operative by the Dominion government will be discussed.

The Inquiring Reporter

THE QUESTION

What do you think the Canadian immigration policy should be?

THE ANSWERS

GEORGE GARDINER, salesman: I certainly think Canada should have a much larger population. If we could work out some system whereby we could take a lot of the European people who want to come here, I think it would be a good idea.

BETTY WHITE, stenographer: It's something that should certainly be controlled very closely, but some kind of selective system would be good. I think we need more of a national spirit to have satisfactory immigrants. Make them feel that this is really their country and they can make it what they want.

BOB MACDOUGALL, clerk: I certainly think we should let people come in here from other lands. I think it's a good thing to have the world in an upheaval. Canada can certainly support a lot more than 1,000,000 people.

Corps Association Has Grave Task In Responsibility to New Veterans

Members of the Canadian Corps Association have the grave responsibility of helping to make the men and women who will be returning from the present war feel a part of the common life of peace. The Rt. Rev. W. A. Barfoot, Bishop of Edmonton, told members of the Association when he addressed their annual church service in All Saints' Cathedral Saturday afternoon.

"We have shared the common human experience of serving in a theatre of war, an experience which binds us together, and transcends all differences," he said.

"There will be an element of strangeness in these men who are returning from battle. Many will feel themselves as strangers even in their own homes. The schemes of the government cannot begin to touch this problem; it is a task for those who have shared the experience."

PARALLEL VIRTUES

Military virtues are the same as Christian virtues, he said, and the men must be helped to realize this relationship.

"Courage, endurance, loyalty, discipline—these are the things which have won us our freedom, and these are the Christian virtues," he said.

In performing their task he cautioned the veterans of the war to remember certain basic facts. He said they must have a deep conviction that the men now returning voluntarily "saved us from death, or worse than death." They must remember too that during the war years these men were at the front.

"A great cause seems to bring people to their feet, and once the conflict is over, they start to go downhill," he said.

"In our future there will be a training aircraft presented to RCAF."

Training Aircraft Presented to RCAF

Proud of their achievement in the sale of War Savings stamps, 60 boys and girls, paper carriers in Alberta, on Saturday afternoon presented the Royal Canadian Air Force with a training aircraft. The aircraft was purchased through the sale of stamps during a five-month period, during which time the carriers of Alberta sold a total exceeding $100,000.

The ceremony took place at North West Air Command headquarters.

It was accepted by the carrier, Officer Commanding, NWAC Group Capt. V. H. Patricar, AFC, who complimented the carriers on the excellent showing they had made in the sale of stamps, and presented them with a plaque on behalf of the RCAF.

Group Captain Patricar presented medals to Yvonne and Gladys McNeil of Edmonton, and sister, who in the period of October, 1942, to April 30, 1945, disposed of 21,000 stamps.

A number of other presentations featured the ceremony. H. M. Evans, vice-chairman of the Alberta War Finance Committee, outlined the great work done by the weekly paper salesmen and presented a trophy to Arnold Hall, of Edmonton, the high salesman.

Freight Policies Under Discussion

Discussions of the present freight policy and its effect on the Western Canadian trade and agriculture opened in Edmonton Monday morning at the Coronet hotel with representatives of the Calgary branch of the Chamber of Commerce, of Trade and Agriculture and the Edmonton Chamber of Commerce.

Harold Facklerley of the Edmonton Chamber presided at the opening session, and Alvin Thompson, chairman of the shippers' committee of the Chamber of Commerce, was in charge of the afternoon proceedings.

Delegates met Premier Keeney Monday at 2 p.m. Monday to discuss the situation and to work government support in action designed to ease the "discrimination" in freight rates.

Statements regarding decisions taken at the meeting will be released Tuesday.

Dullness Is Disaster

Loneliness, Unpopularity and Divorces Are All Due to Boring Manner: Men and Women Should Watch Manners Before Clothes

The one thing that human beings dread more than anything else is loneliness, yet the only way by which we can escape it is for others to desire our society. Such being the case, it is an amazing thing that so few people ever make the slightest effort to make themselves interesting. They do not desire themselves with any conversation at all, but at which even the most frigid suitor, hungry for talk, will nibble.

Take girls, for instance. About all other earthly blessings every girl desires to be popular, to have many dates and boys flocking about her like bees around a honeysuckle. To this end she spends much time and money on clothes, beautifying herself, and improving her technique in dancing and playing games, but she seldom ever attempts to attract men by her personality, or by an interesting line of conversation, or just by being a good listener.

Many girls write to this column saying that, although they are pretty and good dancers and have many first dates, and boys never play a return game with them, they never come back, and the girls wonder why. Yet the answer is obvious. It is because the girls were dull company. They not only had nothing interesting to say, but they were not keen about what the boys had to say. There was no give and take to their talk. The girl who is the life of the party may be as heavily as a mud ball, but she always has a nimble tongue.

Then there are the old people. One of the pitiful things about age is that almost all old people are so lonely. Their friends are few and far between. So many of their old friends are dead, and few visitors come to see them. The main reason of this is because they have not kept themselves interesting. They live in the past, and are not abreast with the times. Their conversation is a dreary round of reminiscences, and people avoid them to save themselves from the torture of being bored.

Yet this unhappy fate need not befall the old if they will take the trouble to keep their contacts in good repair; if they will go about, instead of sitting at home, if they will meet new people, make new friendships, cultivate the society of the young and keep in the swim by giving parties of parties. For it is undeniable that age is not as attractive in itself as youth, and that we have to live in a bonus with ourselves as we grow old.

And isn't it plain as the nose on your face that the chief thing that is the matter with marriage is that both husbands and wives lack the ability to keep each other interested? They let marriage slump away as the honeymoon is over. They are conscientious enough about doing their duty by each other, but they don't turn a hand to keep each other from being bored. They let their marriage slip into a little lifeless one evening at home to get into a fight.

The remedy for the whole domestic mess, for unhappy husbands and peevish, nagging wives, is for husbands and wives to be each other's interesting. They let marriage slump away as the honeymoon is over. They are conscientious enough about doing their duty by each other, but they don't turn a hand to keep each other from being bored. They let their marriage slip into a little lifeless one evening at home to get into a fight.

Bulletin in Brain, Youngster Is Alive

ROCHESTER, Minn., June 28.—(AP)—Four-year-old Larry Roe, buried in his brain was under observation by Mayo clinic specialists at St. Mary's Hospital Saturday, when he was flown to the hospital by army transport plane from Great Falls, Mont., Friday night. He was conscious and talkative in parts of the son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Roe of Fairfield, Mont. Larry was accidentally shot in the right temple June 14 while he and a companion played with a rifle.

Personal Health Service

By WILLIAM BRADY, M.D.
NOT ACCORDING TO HOLY WITNESS, when you enter that the diet of the inhabitants of the lovely South Atlantic side of Tristan da Cunha makes up for the absence of tooth-brushes from their way of life, you hit the nail on the head, Charles.

To drive in home let me cite the facts again. Examination of the teeth of the natives by a dentist from Dr. S. S. Carlisle in 1932 showed that their teeth were practically perfect. Among 136 persons ranging in age from childhood to 80 years, the dentist found 131 entirely free from dental decay. It would be hard to find 131 adults in this country who are free from dental decay. There is nothing "primitive" or "out of the ordinary" about the diet of these people on Tristan da Cunha. They eat potatoes, apples, and whole cereals (when supply ships arrive), fish, crayfish, and meat. Season, eggs, only rarely have meat.

Tomorrow Charles, I'll try to answer your question explicitly. (Copyright, 1943, John E. Dix Co.)

Signed letters pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not disease, diagnosis or treatment, will be answered by Dr. Brady. Your Baby And Mine

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDERD
It is sometimes obvious to everyone except the mother that she is partially to a child in the family. She would like to love each child and the first to resent it if they were pointed out by her. Mothers are always sure they love each child equally.

Here is a family of three, the oldest girl 13, the next boy 5 and the baby 1 month. The oldest girl is her "Daddy's" girl and he is over her. In her mother's eyes, whatever she does is wrong. If there is an altercation between her and the five-year-old mother says, "Bobby wouldn't act that way if you didn't aggravate him." She never notices when Bobby teases the girl.

When twitted about her behavior the girl has but one reply: "You wouldn't treat me that way if I didn't deserve it." The mother tells everyone that the girl is a trouble maker. She is difficult and contrary. The girl replies, "I'm not a trouble maker. I'm just a mother indignantly retorts, 'I love you all, just the same.'"

It is true to admit that a family that one child may be more companionable or sympathetic to a parent and in such case she gives this child more obvious affection and attention. To the daughter and mother, in this particular case, are very much alike. Both are quick, high-strung, hot-tempered, and they react in a similar manner to any situation.

The mother's greatest mistake is her effort to try to motivate good conduct in the girl by holding up the younger brother as an example. She would like to love each child and the first to resent it if they were pointed out by her. Mothers are always sure they love each child equally.

Look Mother! This new wrap-and-tuck frock, Pattern 4706, has NO SIDE SEAMS! Just pull over head, wrap, and tie in back! Cool, comfy over slacks, playclothes. Bonnet included. Pattern 4706 comes in children's sizes 2, 4, 6, 8, 10, 12, 14, 16, 18, 20, 22, 24, 26, 28, 30, 32, 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46, 48, 50, 52, 54, 56, 58, 60, 62, 64, 66, 68, 70, 72, 74, 76, 78, 80, 82, 84, 86, 88, 90, 92, 94, 96, 98, 100.

Send twenty cents (36c in coins) for this pattern. Print plainly, name, address, style number. Send your order to Pattern Department, The Edmonton Bulletin, 60 Front Street, W., Toronto 1A, Ont.

American Sgt. Weds City Girl

Talmut Torah hall was the scene of the wedding on June 17 at 3 p.m. when Miss Faye Delich, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. I. Delich, Edmonton, became the bride of Staff Sgt. Max Schlar, USAAF, son of Mrs. Sarah Schlar of Rossmore, Mass. Rabbi A. Posner performed the ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father the bride wore a gown of white brocade satin, a long veil held in place with a wreath of flowers and she carried a bouquet of pink roses. The bridesmaids, Miss Sarah and Sybil Delich, daughters of the bride, wore bridesmaid dresses. Miss Sarah wore a pink gown and Miss Sybil wore blue. Both wore flowers in their hair and carried colorful bouquets of summer flowers.

Sgt. Saul Swartz, U.S. Army, was best man. Swakman played the wedding music. Mrs. Delich chose for her daughter's wedding a navy blue dress, a sensible, blue hat and a corsage of pink roses.

A reception was held in the hall after the ceremony when the bride's friends and relatives gathered. The bride and groom were surrounded by a three-tiered wedding cake. N. Schlar, the bride's brother, was the toastmaster. The bride and groom were surrounded by a three-tiered wedding cake.

Later the couple left for a honeymoon in Banff, the bride travelling in a beige gabardine suit.

WHOLE WHEAT BREAD IS NOT MADE FROM THE WHOLE WHEAT
Most people who eat whole wheat bread believe that it is made from grinding the whole wheat kernels to flour and baking. This is Graham bread. The so-called whole wheat flour contains only a part of the whole wheat. For consideration the bran is taken out. Graham flour on the other hand, is the whole wheat and contains all the bran and the entire wheat germ. It is named after Sylvester Graham, a Presbyterian minister, who died in 1851. He was a vegetarian and temperance reformer. For decades in the past the craving for alcohol could be kept away by eating Graham bread.

Minute Make-Ups

Women are demanding new and original make-up ideas (see the print). The new ones are Yellow cake-liners on a black background; Neutrals, yellow and orange, on a brown surface. Gay colors, like the new make-up, are pretty fashion tune on a blue background. And for a touch of "wild life," there is a panther print worn by a Hollywood director's wife.

ing out attention to all children, regardless of their behavior and compare their conduct not with others, any others—but with their previous conduct. "You are so much gentler, sweeter, kinder, more selfish than you used to be," if told to the child, would really motivate conduct of that type. The child must feel growth and development within herself. If she is herself, not a copy of some other member of the family.

Two Courts Sitting To Complete Cases
In an effort to complete all outstanding litigation prior to the long vacation, two courts were sitting yesterday, presiding over cases of Justice G. B. O'Connor and Mr. Justice C. J. Doherty.

Mr. Justice O'Connor's court decreed absolute divorce from John R. Moore, James A. Rose from Adeline H. Rose, Ellen A. Mitchell from Walter V. Mitchell, Margaret M. Ryan from Kenneth A. Ryan, and Raymond Walker from Florence Walker.

In the court presided over by Mr. Justice Doherty absolute divorce were granted to Nicola Burbiak from Petrus Burbiak, Bertha L. Campbell from Karl Noble Campbell, and Nellie Rank from Frank Rank.

Mr. Justice Ford granted decrees of divorce to Gabrielle Tracy from Charles G. Tracy, and Bernice Haker, Weisakinn from Ross J. Baker.

Airline Resumes Pacific Coast Flight to Alaska

Alaska Airways will resume service to Ketchikan, Alaska, July 1, company officials said yesterday. Sixteen round trips weekly will be flown to Ketchikan, marking the first flight since the airline was halted in 1940 for lack of airport facilities and kept out of service later when the war started. The chief of army engineers now has granted the airline permission to use the Annette island army air base field, near the airport, as the Ketchikan vicinity which can handle Pan American Douglas Clippers.

Protest Lack of Housing Facilities For Families of Returning Vets

Declaring that the men now returning from overseas in an ever-increasing stream are "very bitter" over the housing situation, secretary-manager W. J. Williams, M.L.A. of the Edmonton Canadian Legion, predicted Sunday there is "going to be a reckoning, locally, provincially and with the Dominion", unless speedy relief of a satisfactory nature is forthcoming.

"These men are entitled to accommodation and if they don't get it they are apt to take it," he said that accommodation is not being provided on the point system and the staff of the Canadian Legion is assisting authorities in establishing priorities.

HOMES REFUSED

One member said he had been informed that empty houses were being refused service because of children in the families. He wanted to know if action could not be taken to force landlords to rent where the accommodation is so desperately required.

Mr. Williams replied that the only way this might be done is by having Edmonton declared an emergency centre. This the Dominion has refused.

It was also stated that protests have been actually made to the city about housing servicemen in certain areas.

Vigorously denouncing this attitude, Mr. Williams asked, "What better type of citizen could any community have?"

"You read of 25 train trips a day speeding west from Halifax. These are going to be a reckoning," the Legion had never encouraged the ALTERS NAME—Joseph L. Allen, president, who announced in Toronto, that Underwood Typewriters is being sold to be known as Underwood "The name is a change of name only," Mr. Allen explained.

In his conclusion with a recent change in the title of the United States organization from Underwood-Kellogg Faber Company to Underwood Corporation, management, personnel, policies and products remain the same.

Use of terms for housing services, Mr. Williams said.

PAPERS CRITICIZED—Edmonton newspapers were criticized for opposing erection of war-time houses without basements, which it was contended might not be ready for the returnees at a rental cost within the reach of the average serviceman. Members conceded Edmonton must now pay $200,000 for housing they once could obtain without cost.

Reports of the recent convention of the provincial committee of the Canadian Legion, held in Toronto, were given by President H. E. Tanner of Edmonton branch No. 34 and Executive Member Percy Gwynne. Both had attended the rehabilitation committee. Edmonton had 20 delegates. The convention dealt with 97 resolutions; it was reported.

Other Edmonton delegates who commented briefly on the Calgary convention were: Mr. J. C. McLean, provincial treasurer; L. G. Col, Mr. Brown, M.M. L.D., Percy Gwynne and W. J. Williams.

APPROVE RESOLUTION—The meeting approved a resolution calling on the department of national defence to speed discharge of medical men in the services.

It was stressed there is a large number of tuberculosis sufferers among veterans badly in need of treatment who cannot obtain medical attention because of doctors and nurses. The resolution stated there are 60 beds at Keith sanatorium unoccupied because of the lack of medical and nursing staff.

Another resolution urged that copies of contracts between employers and vocational training schools be made available for review under the War Emergency Training Plan.

The meeting decided a resolution to continue holding monthly meetings in July and August.

Annual picnic of the branch will be held in Victoria Park on August 5.

It was announced that the Legion plans to sponsor an extensive program of sports and a committee will be set up shortly in the branch.

President Tanner said he could see no reason why the branch should not have to speed discharge of this winter with baseball and soccer teams next year. Junior football would also be promoted, he said.

Total membership of the branch now stands at 2,874 with another large number of new members in August.

Theft of a box containing tools valued at $70 was reported Monday to police. The box, property of J. C. Brown, was stolen from his car during the night, while the vehicle was parked near a hotel.

TCA Is Seeking To Run Planes On North Route

Application by Trans-Canada Air Lines to operate an air service between Whitehorse, Yukon Territory and Fairbanks, Alaska, was formally heard by the Civil Aeronautics Authority in Washington on July 2. It was learned here today by officials of the Edmonton Chamber of Commerce.

TCA has adopted the policy of applying for the license to operate the route and chartering Canadian Pacific Air Lines to fly the service. TCA officials have been in Washington making preliminary arrangements for the hearing and it is understood that Grant McCulloch, general manager, Western Lines, CPA, will go to Washington June 26.

A previous agreement between Canada and the United States awarded the route to a Canadian carrier, and as the Air Transport Board is a Canadian body, it is not expected that any difficulty will be encountered in the immediate issuance of a license.

ONLY APPLICATION—According to the Aviation Act in Canada, TCA is the only company permitted to make application for a license to operate a service on any route and negotiations have been under way for some time.

Commerce officials say that equipment and crew are available so that an immediate schedule can be put into effect as soon as authorization is received.

Officials of the Chamber of Commerce expressed themselves as well pleased with the developments which they have been seeing several months. The opening of the route is expected to bring passengers to fly from any point in Alaska over Canadian territory direct to centers in Eastern Canada and the midwestern United States.

As far as the Gulf of Alaska without the necessity of being diverted through coastal routes.

SUPPORT FROM U.S.—Support for the development of this route came at an air conference held in Denver, at which it was urged that Canadian authorities take prompt action in making application for the license of an operator.

Representations were made by the aviation committee of the Chamber of Commerce to the board of reconstruction, Montreal, under whose authority the department of transport has been operating, and to officials of TCA and the Air Transport Board.

Charles Becker made the representations on behalf of the chamber.

Commenting on the action, James Walker, president of the Chamber of Commerce, said the outcome was exceedingly gratifying to the chamber.

"We feel our efforts have again furthered the interest and development of the inland Northwest route to the Orient, in which Edmonton has such a definite interest," he said.

Students Awarded Writers' Prizes—The Alberta Writers' Conference recently organized a series of competitions for creative writing by pupils between Grade 7 and Grade 12, prizes for which are being given by the Provincial Chamber of Commerce. There is one prize for the best story, one for the best poem, one for the best school paper, and individual prizes for poetry by girls, poems by boys for short stories, and Alberta-backed ground.

Whitlaw school, with entries in every competition, took first prize for its year book, and one individual prize in each of the other contests. Prize winners were: June Davidson, 2nd prize for essays; Shirley Davidson, 3rd prize for the short story; Irene Ludescher, 2nd prize for poems by girls; Martin Kobas, 2nd prize for poems by boys.

Paint Materials In Short Supply

Basic materials for the manufacture of paint are in short supply while the demand for the finished product continues to increase. J. C. Pendray, Victoria, president, British America Paint Co. Ltd., stated on his arrival here Monday in the course of a business tour of the province.

He conferred here with Fred W. Kemp, manager for Northern Alberta for the Canadian Legion, with executives of firms handling the company's product.

Mr. Pendray said that the dye for red, green and yellow paint were extremely difficult to obtain while the basic for white interior paint is in unusually short supply.

Shortage of shipping and containers are factors in the short supply, Mr. Pendray said. The demand for paint is increasing as new homes are erected, and business firms plan to carry through long deferred renovations.
